

LEGAL DISCLAIMER AND TERMS OF USE

Thank you for visiting this website for the Law Office of Susan M. Whalen (“Law Office”). By using this website and information presented in it, including any materials presented by accessible links, you acknowledge and agree to be bound by the terms and conditions set forth below.

No Legal Advice Intended

The information presented in this website is not legal advice and is not intended to be construed or acted upon as such. It is intended to provide general information about the Law Office, and it should not be used as a substitute for obtaining legal advice from qualified counsel.

No Attorney-Client Relationship

Using this website, including the communication of an inquiry or transmission of information via e-mail, does not create or constitute an attorney-client relationship and is not intended as a solicitation or advertisement. Emails sent to the Law Office from this website are not confidential and cannot be protected from disclosure. Do not send confidential information without first speaking to an attorney at the Law Office. Unsolicited communications through this website with the Law Office or an attorney at the Law Office do not create an attorney-client relationship. Unless the Law Office is retained by you to represent you in the subject matter as so acknowledged in writing by the Law Office, the Law Office will take no action on your behalf and the Law Office may represent clients adverse to you in connection with the subject of your communication.

No Warranty or Liability

The information presented in this website is subject to change without notice and is provided without any express or implied guarantee, representation or warranty of any kind. Further, the Law Office does not represent or warrant that such information is current, complete, or accurate. Regardless of any prior notice to the Law Office, you agree that the Law Office is not responsible to you or anyone, in any way or for any consequences or damages whatsoever, arising from this website or your use of or reliance upon the information presented in it, including but not limited to liability or damages under contract or tort theories or any damages caused by viruses contained within electronic files of this website or any linked site.

Links

As a convenience, this website may provide links to third party websites which content is not controlled or maintained by the Law Office. The Law Office is not responsible for their content and providing the links does not imply any recommendation, approval, endorsement or sponsorship by the Law Office of the third party or their website contents.

Privacy Policy

If you submit personal information through an inquiry using this website, we may use that information to contact you, to send you additional information, or for other reasonably related purposes that the Law Office determines are appropriate. We do not sell any such personal information provided by our visitors to any unrelated third party, but we may share it with related entities or with unrelated third parties in connection with our own marketing activities or the maintenance and operation of our website, or as may be legally required.

The Law Office uses industry standard technology to assure that the personal information that may be disclosed using this website is secure. However, there is no guarantee that such precautions will protect against and the Law Office expressly disclaims any liability for any loss, misuse, or alteration of your information. Please contact the Law Office if you do not want the Law Office to further use personal information previously given by you through this website.

When browsing this website, general information may be gathered identifying the ways in which the site is used, including the date, time and duration of your session, the type of web browsers you used, the operating system you used, your IP address, and the URL websites to and from this website that may have been “clickstreamed”. By recording such traffic patterns, we may use this information to identify levels and areas of interest in the Law Office and to improve our website.

“Cookies” may be used as part of the website’s technology. Cookies are files containing small amounts of data that can be sent to your device when you visit a website that help the Law Office, or its technical support consultant, track how you use this website. Cookies are typically essential to enable you to move around the website and use its features, and so web browsers may automatically accept cookies by default. However, you can disable cookies on your device if you prefer but which may then limit your ability to view this website.

Copyright and Intellectual Property Rights

Unless otherwise noted, all graphics and writings appearing in this website are protected under copyright laws and are the intellectual properties owned, controlled or licensed by the Law Office. They may be downloaded and viewed for your personal, temporary, non-commercial use only.

Additional Disclosures

Any disputes concerning this website and the information in or use of it shall be governed by California law (without regard to conflicts of law principles), and any proceeding which may arise out of or in connection with this website shall be brought solely in a court in Santa Barbara County, California.